1. What's one area of your life where you feel "overrun" or in crisis right now? How does that connect to the sermon's story?
  2. Share a time when a friend showed up for you in a difficult moment. What did that mean to you?
  3. What does Prov. 17:17 and 18:24 teach about the kind of friends we need in times of adversity?
  4. How does the "Broken Arrow" story from Vietnam illustrate our human need for someone to cry out to?

5. What stands out to you about Jesus calling his disciples "friends" in John 15:13-15?
6. How does the sermon connect the military "Broken Arrow" code to humanity's deeper crisis of sin?
7. In what ways have you seen friendship or faith connect hope to brokenness in your own story or someone else's?
8. Why is it important to have friends with whom you can safely cry "Broken Arrow"?
9. What one practical step could you take this week to be a "Broken Arrow" friend to someone in your life?
10. How will you live out the truth that our deepest need is met by Jesus — the ultimate Friend — this week? Share a specific prayer request or action.
